World War I

FEDERAL SERVICE

This list was compiled before 1919 and may be incomplete.

The World War I Honor Roll was constructed by the Lush Sign Painting Corporation circa 1918. It was located at Station Plaza between the railroad tracks and Brooklyn Avenue. The honor roll could hold about 400 names and had electric lights. By 1921, reports began to appear in the local paper about the honor roll falling into disrepair.

In 1928, a bronze tablet containing the names of Freeporters who died during the Civil War, Spanish American War, and World War I was dedicated at the Library. The following year, the Village Board votes in favor of removing the original honor roll.

* Franklin Curley’s name was omitted from the original honor roll. However, his name appeared on Roosevelt Honor Roll. In a “Letter to the Editor” in the Nassau County Review on November 28, 1919, Curley he asked to be added to the Freeport Honor Roll. During World War I he lived at 74 Milton Street, Freeport.
